“ John always put the family first and that meant a lot to me when so many nowadays can only think about themselves. He was a great example of the good die too young. The world needs more people like him and unfortunately while he may be gone now. The lives he has touched will always hold a piece of him and will keep his legacy alive and well... also on a side note, if hauntings do happen. Feel free to stop in and say hi sometime big guy ;)

“ John was a good man from the little times I was around him, he was always kind to our family. Even quietly funny. First time I met him he came over for Thanksgiving and made himself right at home and fell asleep on my couch. But I had that kind of couch that would do that to you. He treated my daughter with kindness and loved my little grandbaby. I knew he took on responsibilities that he didnt have to, which should show you that is a good man. My thoughts of healing to all of his family. I know how much they loved him and how much they are going to miss him. Fly high John ❤️🙏
