“ It's been two years since Grammy passed and I miss her more and more everyday. Being her first and oldest great grandchild, you would've thought that I would've visited more...that didn't happen, and it was too late before I realized that. I was going into sixth grade when that summer ended and I was hopeful that Grammy would get better, like she did the last time, but the last time I ever spoke to her, we could barley even hear her, she couldn't swallow and I found out on the day she died. I feel worse for Meme since it was a friday, the day she visited Grammy and stays until Ellen dances on her show. To make matters worse, the people who bought the house, destroyed it in the inside without a second thought. Love you Grammy, wish you were here, but I'm glad you aren't suffering anymore.

“ I was so surprised and sorry to hear of Aunt Marg's passing. I always loved talking to her, but that did not happen often enough in the past number of years-only when we happened to run into each other. My condolences to all the family, but especially my cousins, Kim and Diane, and their families. I am sorry that I did not get to know Roger's family. It is very sad that our society is in such a hurry and priority is not placed on family so much anymore. I hope that all of you are finding strength in the Lord, a very present help in trouble. Please don't hesitate to contact us if you would like to talk. And please offer my sympathy to those precious great-grandchildren who go to New Franklin!! Love to all, Barb and Rich
